

Paper Prototype 1

Drawing out this first paper prototype really opened my eyes to all of the essential features my app will need to have. I left out things like a login/signup page, pricing and sorting options, and pickup/dropoff locations. This also gets me thinking about the layout and content hierarchy of the app and what the most efficient way to include all of these features will be. In the next prototype I'll be focusing less on the details of each page (text, icons, etc. and more on the specific features that each page needs to have.
